NOON DISPATCHES.

THE TURCO-RUSSIAN WAR.

A Skirmish--A Naval Engagement.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Standard's correspondent with Chenket Pasha's headquarters telegraphs from Radomirzy, near Plevna, under date of Monday, as follows: "Our army occupies Telische, and to-day expected a to form a junction with Osman Pasha, who took up a position on the height of Dubruk. There has been no fighting on our way hither, except a trifling cavalry skirmish in the plain of Lukovitza. The Russians who were encamped there fled on our approach. We hope to arrive at Plevna to-morrow. Reconnoisances in any direction have failed to discover a single Russian."

The Standard's Golatz special says an engagement took place off Suleno, the mouth of the Danube, Tuesday, between a Russian and Turkish steamer. The latter exploded and sank with all hands.

Anti-Conkling Resolutions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The anti-Conkling meeting adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we rejoice in the recent and unquestionable evidences that the Constitution as it is now established is to-day accepted by an overwhelming majority of the citizens of the United States.

Resolved, That we recognize and approve the firmness and fidelity with which the President has kept his public pledges and those of his party as to the reform in the civil service.

There is no precedent in the political history of our country for this voluntary act of self reformation by a party in power. We tender to the President and to his able and patriotic advisers our heartiest sympathy and support.

Sale of Forney's Paper.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Col. Forney announces the sale of the Press to Capt. W. W. Nevin, the Editor in Chief during Forney's absence in Europe. Col. Forney reviews his past career from the date of the first issue of the paper, August 1st, 1857. He says his experience with the Press has been one of uninterrupted satisfaction; that he has never been truly happy away from his editorial desk, and that God leaves him sufficient health and body to say farewell without one resentment or disappointment

The new publisher, in his card to the public, says that the Press will be conducted as a thoroughly independent journal; that there is not a dollar of political, corporate or ecclesiastical control in the entire ownership.

The President Addressed a Maryland Fair.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—The President accompanied by Secretary McCrary, Attorney General Devens and W. W. Corcoran left here this morning at 7:45 o'clock, to attend the Frederick county Fair at Frederick, Md. They arrived at Monocacy station at 10:30 o'clock, where they met the committee and proceeded to Frederick in a special car provided by the Baltimore & Ohio R. R., under charge of Major Knotz. The party arrived at Frederick 11 o'clock, and were driven immediately to the Fair grounds.

Hendricks Serenaded.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Governor Hendricks was serenaded to-night at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. A large crowd gathered around the hotel, and after the music, the Governor appeared on the balcony with Mayor Ely, who introduced Mr. Hendricks as the Vice-President elect. After thanking the people for their kind reception, he gave a graphic account of his trip.

Business Failure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The failure of Cross & Co., importers and general commission merchants, is announced. The parent house is at Glasgow, with a branch at Valparaiso and in this city, and extensive business connections in Europe, South America, Australia and China. Amount of liabilities not ascertained.

The Iowa Election.

IOWA CITY, Oct. 11.—Gear, Republican candidate for Governor, will have a plurality, not a majority. Democratic legislative gains are large, and there is much uneasiness amongst Republican politicians over the rapidly narrowing of their joint majority.

Bank Suspension.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The Standard's Berlin special says a private bank in Pomorania has suspended payment. Liabilities 750,000 pounds.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Democratic Caucus to Nominate Candidates--What the Star Says of the Speakership--Georgia Republican Committee Disbands---Catholic Matters--What the Message will be.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A caucus of the Democratic members elect to the 45th, Congress will be held according to usage, in the hall of the House of Representatives on Saturday evening October the 13th at 8 o'clock, to nominate candidates for speaker and other officers of the House, and to transact such further business as may be necessary. Signed, Hiester Clymer, Chairman National Congressional Committee. There are no new developments regarding officers. House canvas quite hot. The Ohio delegation was serenaded to-night at Willard's in honor of Tuesday. The Star says sensationally: The speakership contest presents no new phase. The situation in a nut-shell is this, sifting all sources of information, and a canvass of the ground Randall has about 48 votes pledged beyond a certainty on the first ballot, and has the even chance of eight more, which will make 56. The balance of the Democratic strength is diffused respectively between Sayler, Cox, Goode, Morrison and Blackburn. The opponents of Randall have abandoned any general combination, but will endeavor to rouse the free trade and anti-resumption element of the West and South against him, and choose the candidate to be presented to the caucus, either from the West or South. Editorially it says Mr. Randall seems to have the inside track for the Speakership. There is little doubt that he will be elected.

An Atlanta (Ga.) dispatch says the Republican State Committee met to-day, and by a vote of nine to two passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That this committee is hereby dissolved."

A Baltimore dispatch says: "A conference was held yesterday at the archiepiscopal residence between Archbishops Gibbons and the Bishops of the arch diocese of Baltimore, and the names of three clergymen determined upon to be forwarded to Rome to fill the vacancy in the See of Richmond. Although the names are not divulged, it is believed that Rev. Father Jansens, the present administrator of the Richmond Diocese was selected as one of the three. Archbishop Gibbons will probably be installed in about a week as Primate of the Catholic church in America."

The message to the extra session will merely call the attention of Congress to the deficiencies in the various appropriations, and that legislation be effected to remedy the inconveniences that exist. Other matters will be postponed until the President sends his message to the regular session.

Deputy collector A. M. Hughes telegraphs from Columbia, Tenn., that he has information that Thos. J. Williams, who guided the raiding parties, was taken from his house by masked men and murdered.

Mr. Evarts appeared in the Supreme Court to-day and argued a private case.

AFFAIRS IN THE EAST.

LONDON, October 11.—The following is a Reuter telegram from Kars:

"WEDNESDAY, NOON.

A battle was fought yesterday near Alodja-Dogh, lasting from mid-day until 6 o'clock in the evening. The losses were heavy on both sides. Movements are discernable this morning in the Russian camps which seem to indicate a renewal of the fighting."

[NOTE.—The Daily News' correspondent, telegraphing on Wednesday from the Russian camp, said the Russians had retired to the positions occupied before Tuesday's battle.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 11.—The Turkish war office confirms the report of the junction of Chefket Pasha with Osmau Pasha, and the entry of reinforcements and supplies into Plevna.

Tweed Rises to Explain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Tweed's examination was continued to-day. Toward the close Mr. Tweed desired to rectify, as far as possible the injury which has been done. He then read over a list of checks published and said that in many cases it was money loaned and paid back to him. In other cases the checks were for contributions to election expenses of candidates. Other checks were for contributions to charitable and religious purposes. The reason he included all these checks in his private statement to the Attorney General was to make a full statement of what he had done with the money. He did not mean to convey the idea that the parties to whom these checks were given knew that the money came from the city or that they were given for fraudulent purposes.

Episcopal Convention.

BOSTON, October 11.—The Secretary of the Episcopal Convention announced that the amount collected at the choir festival for Fernandina was five hundred dollars.

Hon. Hamilton Fish presented a report from the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, to which was referred memorials and resolutions from the Diocese of Wisconsin, relating to a change in name of the Church. The communication from Wisconsin asked for the appointment of a Constitutional Commission and the report of the committee was that the appointment of such Commission was inexpedient.

Congratulations all Round.

CHICAGO, October 11.—Gen. Sheridan having received from Adj't Gen. Townsend dispatches congratulating himself General Terry and Colonel Miles on result of the Indian war, telegraphed the same to officers in command, adding that he considers the capture of Chief Joseph exceedingly important, especially in its influence on the Oregon Indians. He also adds his own commendations for the conduct of officers and men.

Railroad Riot Trials.

PITTSBURG, PA., Oct. 11.—The grand jury of Alleghany county to-day examined Col. T. Scott and A. J. Cassall, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in regard to the riots of July last. Subpœnas were issued for Gov. Hartranft and Adjutant General Latta, but they failed to appear, having been advised by the Attorney General that they need not do so unless the Court had given the grand jury authority to summon them. The testimony thus far elicited has not been disclosed.

Archbishop Bayley's Will.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11.—The will of Archbishop Bailey has been probated and published, as follows:

"In the name of God, amen. First, and principally, I commend my soul to Almighty God, and my body I resign to the earth."

His property held in trust for the church and personal proper is bequeathed to the church.

Yellow Fever Report.

JACKSONVILLE, October 12.—A special from Fernandina says that the weather is bright and pleasant, and the sick are doing well. No deaths since last report. Several new cases are reported. Several business men are endeavoring to commence business again. Two more physicians were taken sick with fever last night.

Fire in Mississippi.

VICKSBURG, Oct. 11.—Fire at Edward's depot Miss., destroyed fifteen business houses and rail road depot.

Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—For South Atlantic and East Gulf States clear or partly cloudy weather, northerly winds, stationary pressure and temperature.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Oct 8th, 1877.

Four of the candidates for the Speakership are in the city and working like beavers. Randall is quiet and self-possessed, whilst Sam Cox is buzzing around from the Riggs House to the Capitol, taking in his route the Metropolitan and National hotels, where there are several members quartered. The former is most frequented, as there are a larger number of Southern members stopping there than at any other hotel in the city. Morrison is quietly at work, and thinks he has some show. Sayler will arrive Wednesday and commence work in earnest.

It is whispered that there will be a combination between Cox and Morrison to go to Sayler to defeat Randall. In that event Randall's friends claim the strength of Goode and Scales from the South, which, they say, with his own positive strength North, will elect him.

There is being a strong effort made to defeat the present Clerk, Adams, by electing ex-Congressman Caldwell, of Alabama.

The Doorkeeper's contest is brought down to a solid base between Patterson, of New Jersey, and Col. McCoy, of Baltimore. Polk, of Missouri, and a half dozen more are still in the field, more with a hope of securing some lucrative position than by sharing any chance for election.

There has not been such a collection of dead beats and political bummers around the hotels for years as there is now; they have come from every quarter. However, North Carolina, up to this time, has not shown any strength in this line. The contesting candidates are their special favorites from whom they get a few drinks, common cigars and a small amount of hard currency. For one to stand by and hear them talk, each man can influence from six to twenty votes sure, but it is evident that their influence does not extend beyond the outer door of a second-class bar room, and then only to entice the unsophisticated to beat their victims out of a meal or a drink.

Boarding houses are as numerous as the seven year locust in proportion to numbers. The old regulars (boarding house keepers), as they are known here, have been busy for the past month visiting second-hand stores and street auctions, laying in a supply of rubbish wherewith to furnish a first-class boarding house. A card on the door tells the sad tale for comfort in the following words, "furnished rooms, with first-class table board." The movements of the stranger in Washington at this season of the year are watched with much interest by boarding house runners and all classes of sharpers.

The Avenue is beginning to present a lively appearance. By Saturday most of the members will be in the city.

PERSONAL—VIRGINIA'S COMING STATESMAN.

The Hon. John Goode, of Virginia was born in Bedford county, that State in 1830; is aged forty-seven years. After completing his collegiate education he graduated with distinction at the law school of Judge Brokenborough, and commenced the practice of his profession in his native county with success. He entered political life at the age of twenty-two, and was elected a member of the State Legislature from Bedford county against 400 Whig majority. He served several years in that body with marked ability and distinction.

When the presidential campaign of 1852 opened he was selected as the Democratic elector for the State. In 1856 he was again placed on the electoral ticket as the standard-bearer of the Democracy of the Old Dominion for the Buchanan and Breckenridge ticket.

In 1861 he was elected from his county as a member of the State Convention which formed the ordinance of secession. After the State declared her severance from the Federal Union, he volunteered in the Confederate army and served as a soldier until he was called from the tented field by the voters of his dirtrict to represent them in the Confederate Congress, which position he held until the close of the war, after which he retired to private life, devoting his entire attention to his profession.

When the Democratic party began to show symptoms of life in the South, and especially in Virginia, he again came to the front to fight for political liberty. In 1868 he canvassed the State for Seymour and Blair, and 1872 for Greeley and Brown.

He took the field in the gubernatorial contest between Walker and Wells, the results of which were the saving of Virginia from further radical rule. For a number of years he was an active member of the Democratic Central Committee of the State.

Twice he has been placed in nomination, without his knowledge, by the Legislature of Virginia for the U. S. Senate, coming within one vote each time of being elected.

In 1874 he made the race for Congress in his district against Platt, Republican, successfully, who had previously carried it by 5,224. Hughes, the Republican candidate for Governor in 1873, carried the district over Kemper, Democrat, by a large majority. Last year, in the contest for the 45th Congress, he defeated Segar, the Republican candidate by 1,800 majority.

Goode is a calm, sagacious politician, a learned scholar, eloquent speaker and a profound lawyer. He ranks at the head of his profession in his State. He is classed in Congress as the peer of the Virginia delegation. He will take a leading part in all important national matters that may come before the 45th Congress. He was not a great pet of the late Speaker of the 44th Congress, and consequently he was never pushed forward to many important positions which his cultivated talents entitled him to.

His retirement from the contest for the Speakership was received with much regret by his numerous friends throughout the South and West.

The story has been started that a Confederate flag was displayed at Atlanta during the President's reception at that place. It may be a fact, as we all know the fool-killer has not recently given that close attention to business which the fool crop has seemed to call for. Under the circumstances it is remarkable that the administration ever lived to reach Washington. How it got safely around that Confederate flag ought to be explained, for it was a narrow escape. If there are any more Confederate flags at large in Georgia let them be caged at once. The people of the North don't want to be terrorized and kept awake o'nights by a Confederate flag.

The diphtheria has entirely subsided in Durham we believe, says the Tobacco Plant.

WIFE MURDER.

The Killing of Mrs. Thompson—The Husband of the Murdered Woman Committed to Jail.

Our Wayne county correspondent wrote us Tuesday, the facts as far as then known, of a most diabolical murder in that county. The following in regard to it, we clip from the Goldsboro Messenger of yesterday:

This community was startled Monday night last with the news that a most shocking and diabolical murder had been committed in this county. The victim is Mrs. Celia Thompson, wife of Waitman Thompson, and daughter of Barney Daniel, Esq., and painful as it is to relate, she had been brutally beat to death with a lightwood knot, on a public pathway leading to her father's house, and when only within seventy-five yards of the public road.

Early Tuesday morning, Coroner Kirby repaired to the scene of the murder with a jury to hold the inquest. It seems that she had left home early in the morning to visit her father, and all indications are that she was then murdered, but the horrible deed was not discovered until after sundown that evening, when her dead body was found, face down, on the spot where the awful deed had been committed. An examination showed that her skull was badly crushed. At least four heavy blows had been dealt, and it is supposed that her death was instantaneous. There appears to have been little or no struggle as far as the ground indicates, and it would seem that the murder was a premeditated affair.

Our worthy coroner no doubt felt the importance of the case, and succeeded in collecting a most excellent jury, composed of W. F. Kornegay, B. F. Arrington, S. H. Denmark, Asher Edwards, A Lehman, Matthew Faircloth, Joel Lewis, W. A. Denmark, J. B. Harper, Lewis Howell, W. T. Whitley, B. F. Smith, Abner Slaughter. The jurors met, viewed the body and heard evidence on Tuesday, and adjourned to meet in the Court House Wednesday morning. In all about fifteen witnesses were examined, and at noon on Wednesday, the jury rendered the verdict that in the opinion of the jurors Celia Thompson came to her death from injuries inflicted by her husband Waitman Thompson, with some blunt instrument. The verdict was signed by all of the thirteen jurors, and Thompson was committed to jail to answer the horrible charge of wife murder.

We believe the verdict is chiefly based upon suspicion and it is not our purpose to prejudge the case, and we therefore refrain giving any portion of the testimony, or saying anything that might be used to the prejudice of the accused. Thompson protests that he is innocent.

The crime is indeed horrible to contemplate, and the fact that this makes the fifth of the kind committed in this county since last December, is enough to intensely alarm our people, and all agree that the gallows must be promptly invoked to check such lawlessness. If Thompson is not the man, it is to be hoped that the incarnate fiend who perpetrated the brutal murder may be discovered and brought to speedy justice

THE LAST YANKEE NOTION.

A Death-Dealing Dynamite Discharging Balloon, Which is to Revolutionize Modern Warfare.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)

NEW YORK, October, 2.—Unless the Russians and Turks hurry up and settle their differences they may have the war settled for them in a way that is likely to create a sensation, and, to state it mildly, tear everything all to pieces. It all depends on whether the projector of this novel enterprise can raise the money, and he is now in New York for that purpose. This new plan for destroying an enemy's army, town or fortification is by means of explosives dropped from balloons. The inventor, Mr. J. H. Stoddard, of Worcester, Mass., is a middle-aged, gray-bearded, sharp-featured Yankee, with an intelligent face and a manner that is most kindly and genial and totally unlike the bloodthirsty ferocity that one might look for in a man who proposes to destroy a whole city at one fell-swoop. His plan is very simple. From the bottom of a balloon is suspended dynamite in form like a bunch of bananas, cartridges attached to a stem. These drop from the stem singly as the fire in a burning fuse reaches them and explodes by concussion. All that is necessary to secure successful operation the inventor says is wind. He takes up a position to windward of any point which he wishes to destroy. A small test balloon is sent up to show the velocity of the wind, and then the fuse to the main balloon is so adjusted that the dynamite bananas begin to drop when the objective point is underneath and then the trouble opens. Mr. Stoddard thinks he could capture Plevna in no time. It is certainly easy to imagine the effect of dynamite cartridges dropping at short intervals on a city or an army. They would utterly destroy and wipe out every surrounding object; but it is sad to think what the effect might be if the wind should change and the balloon should come back over the camp of its projectors and destroy those who sent it and not those against whom it was sent. I did not discuss this possibility with Mr. Stoddard, but I presume he has some effective method for preventing any such disaster, for seriously, he is a most business-like and apparently a most common-sense man. He has been invited to St. Petersburg, there to experiment with his apparatus. He lacks only sufficient money to reach St. Petersburg, and he is now in the city looking for funds. Mr. Stoddard says there is millions in it, and he seems to be in earnest. Mr. Stoddard has made many inventions, some of which have become well known, among them the steam calliope, which for grotesque effectiveness equals in its way his latest production, the death and destruction balloon.

Gen. Hill in His New Home.

The following concerning Gen. D. H. Hill, is from the Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette:

"General Hill has entered upon the discharge of his duties as President of the Arkansas Industrial University under the most flattering auspices. He has a reputation as an educator which eminently qualifies him for the position at the head of our University. The people have cause to congratulate themselves on the fact that they have so eminent a citizen, and so distinguished an educator at the head of their young and growing University. It remains for them to use every effort, in co-operation with Gen. Hill in building up an institution which we hope to see at no distant day, the equal of any in the South."

Useful Family Hints.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Green Tomato Pickle.—Gather the tomatoes, wash and drain dry, stick each tomato four or five times with a large straw, put in a stone jar and lay grape leaves over them, and weight down; then make a strong brine and pour over; when needed soak twenty-four hours in fresh water; to a gallon of vinegar add one tablespoonful each of cloves, black pepper, allspice and mustard, tied up in a thin muslin bag; boil the vinegar with the spices in it, then pour over the tomatoes while hot; they will keep good two or three years in brine.

Citron Preserves.—Put a layer of grape leaves in a kettle; then a layer of shapes, sprinkled lightly with alum; another of shapes, sprinkled as before; then cover with boiling water, and boil until you have a nice brittle shape; have ready a strong ginger tea, in which boil half an hour one and a half pounds of sugar to a pound of shapes; add a considerable quantity of water to the sugar and boil the shapes until preserved; if the syrup is not thick enough, boil down.

One Way to Do It.—The lady who wishes to gain strength and reduce stoutness, must eat meat and beef tea, no hominy, groats, or cream. She can drink claret, but not ale or beer, and if she can take exercise enough to digest her food, she may hope to gain strength and reduce the flesh.

Discoloration of Infants' Teeth.—Clean them every day with borax; if a brush is too severe, try a soft cloth, dipped in borax, either dissolved in warm water or pulverized; if the gums are tender the borax will heal and harden them.

A Receipt for making the Complexion Soft and Fine.—Make a linen bag large enough to hold a quart of bran; put it in a vessel and pour two quarts of boiling water on it; let it stand all day, and at night on going to bed take the bag out and wash the face with the bran water; in the morning wash it off entirely with distilled rain water. In a very short time it will make a coarse skin feel like velvet.

Bird's Wings for Bonnets.—As soon as they have been removed from the bird, rub plenty of salt on the joint—or pulverized borax is better—pin them firmly on a board, spread out as desired; place a heavy weight on and leave them so for a day or two; then remove the weight; rub the joint with borax, and place it in a cool, shady place until they become dry and are in shape.

Skeleton Leaves.—Handle very carefully, and have patience. July and August are the best months to gather leaves for this purpose, though later will sometimes do. Get perfect ones; place them in glass jars; add 10 or 12 drops of muriatic acid for every pint of water. Keep the jar covered and in the sun. If the water evaporates, add more, with acid; it must be kept full. It will do no harm if the leaves are crowded a little. Look after them often and when the fibre seems loosened take out the leaf, place it on a piece of glass. If the leaf is a frail, thin one, use a tiny soft brush to remove the pulp; if the leaf is thick and strong rub the pulp out between the thumb and finger; work carefully. Delicate thin leaves require much less time than thick ones in the acid water. Four months is the usual time, often longer. After removing the pulp place the skeleton in cold water; add about one dram of chloride of lime and five drops of ascetic acid for every pint of water. Let them remain in this until they are a fine white; then press them in a large book; keep heavy weights on top.

A WONDERFUL SNAKE.

One Hundred Dollars Reward Offered--A Company Formed to Capture the Reptile.

[Roan Mountain Republican.]

A gentleman from Snow Creek township informs us that a very large snake has been seen several times in that vicinity and its presence has created considerable alarm among the inhabitants. It was first seen by Mr. John Keller, and was at the time crawling over a fence. He struck at it with a rail, and the snake turned to attack him, when he retreated, and the monster made his escape into a laurel thicket.

Mr. Keller estimated that it was fifteen feet long and about two feet in circumference. Its head was a bright yellow and about six inches across.

A few days after Mr. Henry W. Willis saw the snake near the river, when it took to the water and swam across to the south bank and disappeared. Mr. Willis confirms the statement of Mr. Keller as to its size. On last Saturday it was again seen by Mr. John Fortner and Reuben Woody, about three-fourths of a mile from the place where it was first seen. They attacked it, when it again disappeared among the cliffs of rocks. A reward of one hundred dollars has been offered for the reptile alive or fifty dollars if it is killed, and a company has been formed who intend to make a hunt for it next Saturday, and if successful to bring it to town. There can be no doubt as to the story, as the snake was seen three different times, by four persons, and all agree as to its size. It is of a spotted color and makes a bellowing noise when disturbed.

The greatest excitement prevails among the citizens and many of them are afraid to leave their homes for fear of encountering the terrible monster. The company say they will continue the hunt until the reptile is captured.

More Mail Facilities.

[Central Protestant.]

"From all parts of North Carolina comes the demand for more post offices and postal routes. It is one of the greatest needs of the country. We cannot insist too urgently or too often at Washington for improvement in this respect." So says the DAILY NEWS of Raleigh. It utters our own sentiments precisely. Every newspaper in the State is directly and substantially interested in the matter. It is a crying shame that so many thickly populated, productive and interesting portions of the country have been so much neglected in the provision of mail facilities.

Charlotte Democrat: Gen. J. M. Leach of this State, did a great deal to help elect Hampton Governor of South Carolina, and it is said that when Leach asked Hampton last Wednesday to attend the N. C. State Fair (using but few words, of course,) Gov. Hampton said: "General, say no more, I will go, but you are the only man who could talk me into the trip."

SOUTHERN NEWS.

Hon. Bailie Peyton, of Tennessee, who was a member of Congress in 1830, is in Washington, and in good health.

Two sisters of Mercy have died of yellowfever at Fernandina, and two others have gone from St. Augustine to take their places.

Henry Watterson of the Courier-Journal will lecture this winter on "The Whimsicalities, Comicalities, and Realities of Southern Life."

The Cartersville Express is attempting to get up a Hayes party in Georgia, advising the girls to follow Mrs. Hayes' fashion and forsake the tie-backs.

The beach at Galveston is the largest and broadest in the world, extending twenty-five miles, fronting the unbroken tide of the Gulf of Mexico on the south and east.

Black Horse and Left Hand, the Indians who have been ill at Fort Marion, St. Augustine, are convalescing and regaining their usual health and natural savageness.

A picket-line is kept around Jacksonville, Fla., night and day, to keep out yellowfever refugees, but one of them knocked down a colored picket, the other night, and got in.

A Georgia physician contends that the negroes seldom if ever die of yellow fever, and that the "colored" people so often reported as dying of the diseases are mixed breeds.

Mrs. Thomas Gupton, of Pleasant View, Tenn., met with a curious accident a few days ago. While using a pin to clean her ear the head broke off and remained in the ear. She is very ill from the effects.

Senator John James Patterson, who professes to represent South Carolina in the Senate, but keeps as far away from the State as he can, may have to spend some years there in a manner not altogether agreeable to him.

The Charleston (S. C.) News of the 5th inst., says: "If we wish our children to believe, to know, that the South fought for principle and right, and not for expediency and gain, we must use Southern books in our schools."

A wolf that had killed over thirty sheep in Gadsden county, Fla., was killed the other day, after an exciting chase, in which there were forty dogs and a regiment of men. It was five feet long and two and a half high.

The State Department has received no official confirmation of the invasion of El Paso county, Texas, by a Mexican mob. El Paso county is in the extreme western portion of Texas, and it may be a day or two before particulars of the raid are received.

A Virginia exchange, in announcing the fact that a young man had committed suicide by blowing his brains out with a pistol, gives as a reason for mourning over his departure, "that his name was first on the list of the guests for the hop to-night." In all probability he hopped too much.

STATE NEWS.

Another mad dog killed yesterday afternoon, corner of Fifth and Castle streets, by a policeman, says the Wilmington Review of the 10th inst.

There is to be a new paper published in Greenville, N. C., to be called the Greenville Register, to be published by Lycurgus Thomas, formerly connected with the Washington Echo.

Winston Sentinel: The Episcopal Church, on 4th St. is about finished. Though smaller than our other church buildings, it surpasses them all in its convenient design and architectural beauty.

Salem Press: The Silver Cornets, articles for exhibition, and a number of citizens, of both Salem and Winston, are about ready for the State Fair. A large number from the towns will visit Raleigh about Thursday.

Winston Sentinel: In the case of Paul Crutchfield against the R. & D. Railroad, removed from this county to Davie, the jury at the present term of Davie Court gave a verdict against the road for $6,000. The case was tried here one year ago, and a verdict given against the road for $4,000.

Charlotte Observer: Tuesday morning Dr. J. M. Strong, administrator of J. H. Ross, deceased, sold in front of the court house door sixteen shares of stock of the Merchant's and Farmers National Bank of Charlotte, and ten (old) bonds of Mecklenburg county of one hundred dollars each. The bank stock brought 105¼ and the bonds 95.

Wilmington Star: The coot hunters are now on the war path and hundreds of these toothsome birds are daily brought to bag. One of a brace of Nimrods who succeeded in bagging forty-two yesterday, said they were mighty good to eat, but that shooting them "settin'" was perfect butchery. Another hunter said he thought it was very coot sport.

Wilmington Star: The offices of the Sheriff and Clerk of the Superior Court, and Judge of Probate, are now at Burgaw, where all the records of Pender county have been removed. Lawyers and others having business with these officers will, therefore, call upon or address them at Burgaw in future, instead of at South Washington, as formerly.

Wilmington Review: A colored man was accidentally shot in the arm while walking along in the eastern portion of the city last evening. A gentleman sitting in his house was cleaning his pistol, when the weapon was accidentally discharged. The man was cared for by the gentleman and will receive all necessary aid until the wound heals and he is able to go to work.

Washington North State Press: We were shown by Mr. J. T. Chaney an old piece of Continental money, of the denomination of $50, payable in gold according to a resolution passed by Congress on January, 14th 1779; it is now near one hundred years old, and was saved by Mr. Chaney's great grand father, Major James Carmer, an officer under Gen. Washington, in the Revolutionary war.

The Newbernian tells of a negro named Noah Lisbon, living in the lower end of Beaufort county who was bitten by a rattlesnake while prowling about J. H. Hazzelton's corn field in the night, stealing corn. His agonizing screams awoke Mr. Hazzelton and every effort was made to relieve him of his agonizing pains, but he died the following morning. The snake was killed. It had eleven rattles.

Newbern Nutshell: The Newbern Grays' Rifle Team, to contest for the champion flag, at the Raleigh Fair, was selected Tuesday from the team of fifteen which was appointed by the company, and which has been engaged in target practice for some time. The following is the team: William Ellis, Captain, A. M. Kirkland, Geo. A. Oliver, Albert Wadsworth, and N. B Agostine. We learn some very good shooting has been done by this team. We hope they will do their best at the fair.

Washington North State Press: The unprecedented heavy rains that have fallen in this section within the last two weeks have done very material damage. The crops, especially cotton has been much damaged thereby, and it has caused the farmers great delay in gathering what was open. Traveling has been greatly retarded, so that people have been unable to get to and from town, and the mails are just beginning to get straight after two weeks disarrangement. Such heavy rains were never experienced here before.

Durham Tobacco Plant: J. B. Mason, of the Revenue department, made a break a week or two since on a contraband distillery located 2½ miles from Durham in the neighborhood of Eno Church. The machine was run by Washington Mangum and was so completely arranged that it would never have been discovered if the officer had not been pilotted by some one. The fixtures were all seized but the bird had flown, and Mr. Mangum has not been heard from since and we presume will not be soon. From all appearances the distillery had been in operation a year or more.

WHY THE SOUTH SHOULD REJOICE.

The South has special reasons for rejoicing over the Democratic victory in Ohio. Ohio is the most powerful of all the Western States. In the nation, it is New York's greatest rival. It wields a vast influence over its sister States of the prairies in their social, political and commercial life. Its metropolis has not been inaptly termed "The Queen City of the West." When, therefore, Ohio departs from the Republican feld; tramples upon the standard which symbolizes Northern hatred of the South; comes over with her grand army of voters to the support of Democratic principles, and joins hands with "the solid South," we have cause for rejoicing.

The union of the West and South in politics and in trade is the one grand, over-topping object which our statesmen should now strive to attain. When these two sections of the United States become wedded in interest and stand upon the same political platform, the control of the national government falls into their hands and the sceptre of power departs forever from the grasp of selfish New England, for whose peculiar benefit the government has been operated for fifty years or more, to the detriment of the West and South.

With Ohio and Indiana co-operating with the Southern States, in both politics and commerce, there is new hope for us. In the light of Wednesday's victory we may see clearer than ever a glorious future outspreading for our country.

For another reason we may well rejoice. This success gives us the Keystone State. Pennsylvania will now certainly vote Democratic in the approaching election; and New York is surer than ever to give the Albany ticket a rousing majority. With New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio arrayed on our side, the opposition is left without hope. The key of the vantage ground for next year and for 1880, has been won, and the election of a Democratic President and his inauguration, three years hence, is about as well assured as anything in the political future can be.

HELP FOR EDUCATION.

In the last Congress a bill was introduced providing for the disposition of the public lands for general educational purposes in the States. It will probably come up again during the approaching regular session. We know nothing of the merits of this particular bill, whether it should pass or not; but the subject certainly deserves the earnest attention of Congress.

The government has heretofore donated its public lands with lavish hands on railroads. Hundreds of millions of acres have been given away in behalf of this class of internal improvements. We think the time has come for diverting some of our vast public domain to a more profitable field of investment. It could not be disposed of better than in a grand offering to the cause of education.

Our Congressmen could hardly do a more really useful service to North Carolina than by pressing upon the attention of Congress some bill to devote the public lands, or a part of them, to the establishment of schools—especially in the South.

There would hardly be unconquerable opposition to a measure of this kind—particularly at this juncture, when there is Democratic ascendancy in the House of Representatives, and prospective Democratic national control; when the Senate is almost ours, and the President is kindly disposed towards the South. The time is propitious for such a measure; and under the changed condition of affairs, and in the beneficent light of reconciliation, the Northern people would not be likely to begrudge the South the lion's share of the apportionment. We hope to see this matter brought prominently forward in Congress. It is better far to sell the remnant of the public domain and devote the proceeds resulting from the sale to the education of the masses, than to use it for railroad subsidies.

THE friends of Gov. Hendricks are much elated with his prospects for the Presidency in 1880. It is almost too soon to count on his nomination. Three years is a long time, and "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip." If the convention could be held to-morrow he would probably be nominated by acclamation. New York, it is said, has accepted him as the coming President.

THE Philadelphia Times says: "Education in the South is a cause in which the whole country is interested." It is of sufficient national importance to justify Congress in giving the remnant of the public lands to educational purposes in the South.

THERE is no hoax about it. Governor Hampton has certainly promised to be here on Thursday of next week, to deliver the annual address of the Fair.

THAT was a horrible, cold-blooded murder in Wayne county. The details of it we publish elsewhere to-day.

[From the Augusta Chronicle.]

We had driven the Federal army from the field in the morning. In the evening they returned to the attack. Their line being longer than ours swung around our left flank. In the centre we had driven them entirely out of sight and thought we had routed them for the last time that day. But our troops on the left were broken and the line continued to melt away till it reached Gen. Ramseur's division.

This was a break-water. The storm of battle raged furiously around it. But it stood like a rock in mid ocean. My command joined him on the right, and when he saw the troops flying on his left he came to me and expressed surprise that they should be running, and said let us hold our position, which I agreed to do. So when he became enveloped, I began to charge obliquely to my left, to give him relief, when he fell, and his troops quit the field.

He was a glorious soldier—dashing, daring, fearless. The day before this battle news reached him of the birth of his little girl. Thus another strong link bound him to earth, but duty called and he knew not how to disobey.

Spoiling a Romance.

(Baltimore Sun.)

An absurd story, which we first found in the New York Graphic but which was not admitted in the columns of the Sun because of its inherent untruthfulness, has been going the rounds of the newspapers about the late Archbishop of Baltimore and a brilliant Connecticut belle. It was stated that when Mr. Bayley became a priest he broke off an engagement of marriage to this lady, whom he had met on a summer holiday trip, and that she took refuge in a convent, whence she soon fled under very peculiar circumstances, and finally she died of consumption and a broken heart. This work of the imagination the New York Tribune thus spoils:

"Mr. Bayley and the lady in question were friends from childhood, but not lovers. They were never engaged to be married. She never suffered from either consumption or a broken heart, but remained in excellent health and spirits for more than thirty years after he entered the priesthood, and she died in Europe only a year ago. She made a short trial of convent life as a novice of the Sisters of Mercy, but as this was when she was a middle-aged woman, and as much as twelve or fifteen years after the alleged separation from her supposed betrothed, it could hardly have been the result of disappointed love. Neither was there anything peculiar in the circumstances of her return to the world. Finding that the convent did not suit her she went home in the most common place manner, as novices and sisters often do."

Gen. Butler's Talk About the South.

Of Gen. B. F. Butler, a writer in the Chronicle, of Augusta, Ga., speaks in a very amiable tone. He travelled lately a long distance with the Massachusetts general, and even the sore topic of the Bermuda Hundred was alluded to. "During all the talk," writes the Southerner, "Gen. Butler never approached within a mile of an oath, even when warmed up, and we were much impressed with the fact that his allusions to the Southern army were always respectful, and he spoke of them continuously, not as 'rebels,' but 'Confederates.' The only thrusts he made were at Grant, showing, we thought, that he had no overwhelming respect for that gentleman as a strategist, when compared with Gen. Lee."

Ice did not become an article of commerce until the present century; but already in the United States alone thirty millions of dollars are invested in the business of gathering and selling it. Large shipments of ice are made to South America and Asia; the European nations supplying themselves with ice from Norway. There has been a remarkable increase in the use of the article in the United States since 1845, when only 50,000 tons of it were used. In the year 1876 the consumers bought 2,500,000 tons and probably 5,000,000 tons were cut. Beer brewers are the best customers of the ice companies, several using 30,000 tons of ice annually. So great has become the ice commerce that it now has a neatly and clearly printed newspaper of its own—Ice Trade Journal—the first number of which has just been printed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA,
CHAPEL HILL, Sept. 25, 1877.

To the Trustees, Alumni and friends of the University of North Carolina:

The increasing prosperity of the University has created a need for a medium through which its objects should be made known. To this end the two Literary Societies of the University have determined to re-establish the "University Magazine," once an ornament to the University and State.

It is proposed in publishing facts connected with the University to make the Magazine the organ through which the historical incidents of the State may be made known and perpetuated. At present there is in the State no periodical of this kind and the need for one is patent to all.

The contributors of the Magazine will be some of the most prominent and talented gentlemen and ladies of the State. The Societies have elected three editors each, and as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained the Magazine will be issued.

The price of the Magazine will be $2.50, IN ADVANCE, per year.

Trustees, Alumni and friends, the students of your University call upon you to contribute this small amount to the support of an enterprise, the ends of which are so beneficial.

Those who desire to aid us will please inform us immediately by letter or postal.

Address,
EDITORS UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE,
Chapel Hill, Orange Co., N.C.

State papers friendly to the enterprise will please copy.

DR TUTTS PILLS

Meet the wants of those who need a safe and reliable medicine. The immense demand which has so rapidly followed their introduction is evidence that they do supply this want, and proves them to be ever furnished the American people. The highest medical authorities concede their superiority over all others, because they possess alterative, tonic, and healing properties contained in no other medicine. Being strongly Anti-Bilious, they expel all humors, correct a vitiated state of the system, and, being purely vegetable, they do not, like other pills, leave the stomach and bowels in a worse condition than they found them, but, on the contrary, impart a healthy tone and vigor before unknown.

OUR WORDS INDORSED.

Sunset.

Melody to ancient air
Has touched my soul. O hand so fair
That hymned it forth,
In the golden sunset there,
Of noble worth.

Feeble, poor, and old am I,
What is this life? Alas, how nigh
Seemed it to fate
When the song I used to try
Came whispering late.

Tears are gauge of purest mind,
Drop e'en a few the maimed and blind;
I loved that song—
Mother sang it, and the wind
Swept soft along.

As I think of saintly face,
The touch of tender, loving grace
I silent turn
Where the sunbeams leapt—no trace—
To find no bourne.

So leave I the sunset song,
And hie me home to where I long
To bow my head;
Blessed the hand that struck among
Cords long since dead.

Bringing back the golden time
Of love and hope in its familiar rhyme,
The corn in ear—
Breath of the bee-swarmed murmuring lime,
To cottage dear.

—Chambers's Journal.

NEWS NOTES.

Alcott says that the first sign of age is loneliness. This is what makes a young man go round the street at midnight singing, "Dear mother, I am growing old."

Mr. Halsey, a leading New Jersey republican politician, reports great apathy among the old time republicans of his State, and declares that General McClellan will be elected.

The New-Orleans Times says that thousands of unemployed men linger in that city, while urgent invitations are being sent to the people of the North to come and settle upon the fertile lands of Louisiana.

The Fall River (Mass.) News says that the American Print Works in that city are now running on half time, and it is expected will shut down entirely in about 10 days. At present only 12 out of the 20 machines are in operation.

In South Carolina's ring days there was a sliding scale in corruption. The evidence in the cases of Smalls and Maxwell shows that a Congressman's vote was worth five thousand dollars and a State Senator's one-fifth of that amount.

Robert Keith, of San Francisco, has sued Archibald Borland for $100,000 damages, for alienating the affections of his wife. There are no men in this part of the country who could be induced to sell out for any such paltry sum as that.

It is rumored that Amadeo, ex-King of Spain, feels so severely the loss of his wife, a gentle and lovely lady, that he has resolved to take holy orders and enter a cloister It is said, further, that he has written to this effect to the Pope.

From what we see in the newspapers in general we have reason to conclude that the opinion is rather general that while the Republicans robbed the Democrats of the Presidency, the Democrats have robbed the Republicans of the President.

Turner's Falls Reporter: One of the happiest moments in a tramp's life is when he takes his Bible to read his morning chapter, and finds these words staring from out the oft-read page: "The rich man can never enter the kingdom of heaven."

All along the line of irreconcilables it has been decided that the President cannot be tripped up and floored by his Southern policy. Senator Blaine is understood to have confessed this in a letter to a friend in Washington, and a rush will be made for the weak places in the civil service reform policy.

And now we hear that, in the absence of Morton, Conkling and Blaine are likely to get to loggerheads as to the leadership of the party in the Senate. Well, as the old lady said when her husband was struggling with the bear, all we care to see is a fair field and no favors.

Hawkeye: The cruel fates never appear half so grim and pitiless as when they marry a girl who has gone through Vassar and can play divinely, paint like an angel, dance like a fairy, and slam the front door in seven languages, to a man who owes for the clothes he was married in, begs his tobacco, and buys his wood half a cord at a time.

Mr. Charles Fechter is said to be an excellent farmer, reaping every year very good crops on his Pennsylvania estate. He cultivates about a hundred acres, employing the best machinery. He sells nothing from his farm, however; he gives away nearly all that he raises, and is reported to almost entirely support, by these benefactions, many poor families living in his neighborhood.

Burlington Hawk-Eye: General McClellan now denies that he ever killed a moth. It appears that he had fairly circumvented the moth, had laid his parallels up within pistol shot of its works, had thoroughly and closely invested it, cut off all avenues of retreat or supplies, and then, just as he was finally on the point of winning some of its most important works, with a view to following the movement up with an assault and certain capture, the provoking moth went and died of old age."

Cleopatra's Needle:

I am going, Egypt, going,
Off to Albion's haughty shores;
In the future all my sewing
Must be done for pallid Glaours—
Your remarks are wholly needless,
For this needle cant be yours.

I am going, Egypt, going,
I am going further west.
So you'd better, yes, you'd better
Readjust your ancient vest;
Check your tears and cease to jabber
Of your mummies gone before—
I am going, Egypt, going,
I am going to the Glaour.

The Alabama and Georgia Mills, located at West Point, turned out during the past month one hundred and fifty thousand yards of cloth.

As our reporter came along Water Street last night, shivering with the chill night air, and drawing his overcoat tightly about him, he thought, "now is the time for colds and coughs," but if poor mortals only knew what a certain cure Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is how few would long suffer, and then it costs only twenty-five cents. —Sandusky (Ohio) Register.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINE AND SAFETY BOILER WAS AWARDED THE

First Premium at Roanoke & Tar River Agricultural Society, 1875. The Gold Medal, over all other Competitors, at the North Carolina State Fair, in 1876.

It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

——Governor Vance yesterday issued a commission to Judge A. A. McKoy to hold a special term of McDowell Superior Court, to begin on Monday December 3rd. He also issued a commission to Judge W. R. Cox to hold the special term of Robeson Superior Court on Monday, Dec., 10th.

——The house and lot on Hillsboro street, advertised for sale last Tuesday, was bid off by Judge Merrimon at $4,050, and resold by him yesterday for about the same money. The last purchaser was our enterprising young merchant, Mr. S. C. Pool, of the firm of Pool and Moring, who designs refitting and repairing it for his own residence.

Dr. Satter's Concert.

To-night the great event will come off. Tucker Hall will embrace a select audience assembled to listen to one of the grandest performances ever given within its walls. The programme of Dr. Satter is exceedingly interesting and the rendering in his inimitable style will far surpass anything that has ever been heard in Raleigh. We think we have done our duty in apprising our citizens of what they are to expect, and if they do not take our advice and turn out in full, we should for their sake feel very sorry. Dr. Satter gave eight concerts in Richmond, once in aid of the Lee monument fund at the earnest solicitation of the Mayor and a number of the most prominent citizens of that city. In Staunton he appeared three times, each time before overflowing houses. Let Raleigh show that it is not behind to do homage to a great art and one of its loftiest exponents.

Circular of Enquiry.

A letter, or circular, was received at the Auditor's office yesterday, from the Auditor of the State of Kansas at Topeka, desiring information on a number of points in regard to our State; the number of square miles of territory in the State; number of acres of land assessed for taxation; value of real and personal property assessed; proportion between the assessed and the real value of real estate; miles of railroad; assessed value of railroad property; township, village, city and school tax; aggregate debt of the State, and several other things relating to our civil and industrial affairs. We suppose the Auditor of Kansas is getting up statistics of his own and other States in order to show their comparative advantages to influence immigration. Such information has a powerful influence on persons seeking new homes, and we think it would be wise for our own State to go more extensively in gathering and publishing facts of this sort.

Light.

We were rather favorable toward the experiment of the present plan of lighting the city, at the start. It looked very plausible and was represented as being cheap and reliable, and, as we had no city lights on the streets at the that time, nor appeared to be likely to have, we thought it might do; at least would be better than no light. We have changed that opinion. We think that all concerned are convinced that the the plan is a failure. Nine-tenths, at least, of the citizens are of that opinion. Whether by an unhappy coincidence or not, it seems that when we need light most we have least of it. We think it time to try some other plan or fall back into certain darkness.

New Feature in Pomology.

Mr. George T. Stronach brought to the NEWS office last night about a dozen very fine apples gathered from an apple limb that was engrafted into a persimmon tree three years ago on his Meredith farm. This may seem so strange as to challege belief, but we have Mr. Stronach's assurance of the fact, and the certificate of Mr. John R. Carter, who lives on the farm certifying to the correctness of the statement. The graff was put in the persimmon tree three years ago by a Canadian by the name of Gray who then lived on the place.

Attention--Rescue and Hook and Ladder Companies.

You will meet at Rescue Hall to-night at 8 o'clock, sharp, to complete arrangements for the entertaining of the visiting Fire Companies. A full attendance of both Companies is earnestly requested. By order of Rescue Foreman, T. T. Fentress, Secretary.

Two Important Considerations.

To which our large sales of coal are attributable, are its excellent quality, and the fact that we are the only dealers in the city who have the proper facilities for weighing. G. W. Carpenter & Co. *

Donations to the North Carolina Agricultural Society, for the Premium List of the Next State Fair, Oct. 16th to 20th.

(Acknowledged by C. B. Denson, Sup't, in behalf of the Executive Com)

One bell, weighing, with mounting, 375 pounds, value $60, given by the Blymer Manufacturing Company, Cincindati, Ohio. This liberal donation is given by one of the first manufacturing firms of Cincinnati. They have sent a fine exhibit of bells and of machinery, especially sorghum crushing and evaporating.

One child's carriage, $33, given by Messrs. Charles A. Wilson & Bro., New York. This has arrived, and was unpacked yesterday. It is by far the most beautiful specimen of workmanship in this department of art that we have ever seen. Who will be the fortunate winner?

One No. 3 new excelsior lawn mower, $25, given by the Chadburn & Caldwell Manufacturing Company, L. M. Smith, Secretary, Newburgh, New York. The firm who make this mower send thousands of them to Europe, and it is said to stand at the head of these usetul appliances to the lover of beautiful turf.

One selection of crockery, very handsome, $100, from James Carr, Manufacturer 442 W. 13th street, New York. This magnificent gift is one of the most valuable received during the season, and is most gratefully appreciated. It is already in hand, having been unpacked on yesterday. So liberal a gift deserves mention in detail as follows: Half dozen leaf jugs, half dozen S. K. jugs, half dozen common butter dishes, one rustic tete-a-tete set, half dozen seedman boxes, half dozen Rip Van Winkle plates, half dozen Rip Van Winkle do., half dozen stone jugs, three-fourths dozen N. G. Scott napkins, half dozen pickles, one stone tete-a-tete set, one-fourth dozen hotel bakers, five-twelfths dozen singles, one-third dozen jugs, one-twelfth dozen teapots, one-twelfth dozen sugars, one-twelfth dozen soup tureens and stands, one-twelfth dozen salad tureens and stand, half dozen C. C. jugs, half dozen C. C. bakers, one decorated toilet set, thirteen pieces, one-third dozen parlor spittoons.

Two dozen brooms, given by Messrs, W. A. Tottle & Co., Baltimore, Md., through Messrs. Barbee & Latta, commission merchants, Raleigh, N. C.

One patent rocker cradle, given by Messrs. Kearney & Wiggins, Cincinnati, Ohio, through Messrs. W. H. Morris & Co., furniture dealers, Raleigh, N. C.

Flowering, shrubbery and hardy perennials, given by C. B. Denson, Kelvin Nursey, Pittsboro, N. C.

Important Notes of the Fair.

The office of the Secretary for entries &c., will be moved to the Fair Grounds to-morrow (Saturday) morning. All who desire to procure tickets of life membership, or make entries will call this day at the office, over Briggs' store.

Merchants and others in charge of donations will please deliver the same to Capt. Wm. H. Thompson, at General Exhibition Hall, to-day, with list of the packages. Those who cannot deliver at the Fair Grounds, will please do so at the office to-day. (Friday)

The Secretary would notify all persons making entries, that every effort will be made to give satistaction, but the demands for space are so great, that the utmost good feeling and disposition to accommodate is necessary on the part of all. It is to be regretted that we have not additional buildings, but it is designed to utilize the capacity of those we have to the fullest possible extent. Exhibits ought to be in place and complete by Monday evening. They cannot compete for premiums if not in at 9 A. M. Wednesday—Please have your address on all your packing boxes &c. Do not send anything without written directions, or some responsible person in charge. Entry fees should accompany directions for entry, except in contributions from the ladies.

All members pay entry fees on articles, except the first year of life membership.

Gate-keepers will be forbidden to leave their posts; persons desiring tickets, who do not wish to leave carriages, will be supplied by the boy at the ticket box without the gate.

Settling to House-Keeping Again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young will move into their new house on Hillsboro street to-day. This is one of the best arranged and most comfortable cottage residences in the city. The rooms, kitchen, dining room, servants room, well, and other fixtures, are all conveniently arranged and located. The painting inside is particularly neat and tastey, and was done by Mr. A. J. Spink, one of our city painters. Mr. and Mrs. Young have been engaged in teaching in the Blind department of the D. and D. and B. Institute for several years, their faithful services being recognized by their retention under all the changes and administrations that have affected that institution. May they long live to teach the helpless class committed to their charge and to dwell happily in their pleasant new home.

The Mountains to the Fair.

We are gratified to learn that Maj. Wilson, President of the Western N. C. Railroad, will run special trains, during Fair week, to connect at Salisbury with the excursion trains on the North Carolina Railroad. The rates for passengers will be 1½ cents per mile each way—the same as other roads. We look for immense crowds from the mountains at the Fair.

Schedule of Trains for the Fair.

Trains will be run between Raleigh and the Fair grounds daily during the Fair, begining at 8.30 A. M., will run to the grounds every half hour; returning will begin at 8.45 A. M., running from the grounds to Raleigh every half hour. Fare 10 cents.

A Tale of Suffering.

We mentioned a few days ago that a man of the class usually denominated "tramps," was picked up sick in the streets of Raleigh and taken to the station house where he remained several days until removed to the house of Mr. Hirschmiller for better care and attention. We visited him yesterday and found him very much better and in a condition to give some account of himself, which he had not been able to do before since he was found down in the street. From his statement we condense the following:

He is a native of Livingston parish, La., and has followed the sea for thirteen years. He shipped in Liverpool on the topsail schooner, Seaweed, in June last, for New York. About six or eight weeks ago, (his memory seems somewhat confused in regard to dates,) the Seaweed encountered a heavy wind off Cape Hatteras and was driven against a rock and went to pieces in a short time. The crew, consisting of Capt. Founce and four men including himself, took to the yawl and after strugling in a heavy sea for about half an hour, were picked up by the steamer Virginia, belonging to Norfolk, and carried to that city.

He remained in Norfolk some ten days and then started afoot to reach his sister, who lives in Salem in this State. He arrived at Weldon, when the little money that had been given him gave out, and he engaged to pull fodder for a farmer in the neighborhood, by which he made a small sum of money and again started for Salem. He arrived at Pacific, on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and his money being again exhausted, he set in to pick cotton for a farmer in that neighborhood. Here he was taken sick and the man for whom he was at work gave him money to take him to Raleigh. He grew worse and became unconscious and don't recollect reaching Raleigh, nor anything that happened to him, until Tuesday, when his consciousness returned and he found himself where he now is.

His sister, he says, married a railroad engineer by the name of Cyrus Aldridge, who changed from one road to another until he reached Salem, where he is now running a stationary engine.

He says he has another sister living in Covington, Ga., whose husband was killed in the Confederate service during the war.

He gives his name as Charles Allen; seems to be an intelligent man, and when questioned on the subject, declared he had never been in the habit of using intoxicating liquors. He lost all his clothing and everything he had by the wreck, and when found here was in a very ragged and dirty plight.

He hopes to be able soon to work and gain means to take him on to his sister. He answers all questions put to him readily, and does not seem to be telling a made-up tale in regard to himself.

Seeking Information.

Secretary of State Engelhard has received a letter of enquiry from W. S. George & Co., of Lansing, Michigan, State printers and binders, asking for the prices paid by the State of North Carolina for plain composition and press work under the contract between the State and the public printer, with as many details on the subject as our Secretary can conveniently give, and also a copy of the contract between the State and public printer. We should not be surprised to learn that they have got into an em and em quad controversy in that far off commonwealth.

We are pleased to learn that our friend R. P.
